

Mihi (Welcome)

Ko wai rā, ko wai rā

Te tangata tuitui i ngā maunga whakahī o te ao,
Ko Tuheitia Potatau Te Wherowhero te Tuawhitu

Ko te Mauri o te motu,

He tipua, he taniwha, he Kīngi.

Ko Tuheitia e ngunguru nei,

Au! Au! Aue hā!

Ko Te Whare Wānanga o Waikato e ngunguru ei.

Au! Au! Aue, hā!

E ngā mana, e ngā iwi taketake o te ao, haere mai, haere mai, haere mai. Haere mai ki Taupiri Maunga, ki Waikato Whenua, ki Waikato Awa, ki Waikato Tangata. Nau mai ki te Whare Wānanga o Waikato, ko tāna kupu i tāmiro ai ki te rangi, ki te whenuai, Ko te Tangata.

Tihei mauri ora!

The Faculty of Māori and Indigenous Studies, the University of Waikato, our sponsors, and the Local Host Committee welcome NAISA, the largest scholarly organization devoted to Indigenous Studies and research, to the ancestral lands of Waikato-Tainui.

The traditional lands of Waikato-Tainui stretch from the south head of the Manukau Harbour to the Mokau River with interests further afield. This territory, along with that of Ngāti Maniapoto, was the heart of the King movement, or Kīngitanga, formed in 1858. The Kīngitanga – a movement to create a unified Māori nation under a Māori king was formed after consultation among tribes throughout Aotearoa/New Zealand. Pōtatau Te Wherowhero, ariki of Waikato-Maniapoto, was chosen to become the first Māori king in 1858. In 1995, Waikato-Tainui was the first Iwi to settle grievances with the Crown for what is today known as its Raupatu Claim. The 1995 Waikato-Tainui Raupatu Claims Settlement Act provided the foundations upon which the tribe would establish itself to progress the cultural, social and economic advancement of its people. In 2008, the tribe signed a Deed of Settlement with the Crown for the Waikato River. The '2010 Act' supports work to restore and protect the health and wellbeing of the Waikato River for future generations. To learn more about Waikato-

Tainui please visit <https://www.waikatotainui.com/>

The hosting of NAISA in Aotearoa is a significant milestone for NAISA because it is the first time the conference has been held outside of the US, Canada and the Hawaiian Islands, signaling the international significance of the Association and the geopolitical expansion of its membership. It is also a privilege and honour for the Faculty of Māori and Indigenous Studies to host the most important Indigenous scholarly organisation in the world.

'Ka whawhai tonu mātou, Ake! Ake! Ake! - We will fight on for ever and ever!'
(Ngāti Maniapoto Chief, Rewi Maniapoto, 1864).

This is the provisional conference program for NAISA 2019, to be held at the University of Waikato 26 to 29 June. For withdrawals or corrections please email contact.naisa@gmail.com by Thursday 30 May.
